Celia Harmon

The Gibbon Collection was inspired by the shadow play that occurs when light is obscured by structures and falls at angles on the floor to create simple but interesting shapes. The angles used in all designs were carefully curated to create pleasing asymmetrical shapes, which compliment a broad spectrum of interior styles.

All designs have been coloured in tones that suit both residential and commercial interiors, however all can be altered and customised to suit each individual client style.

Fun fact: Gibbon is also the name of an ape species – one of which is ranked among the most threatened primates (the Silvery Gibbon). In keeping with the theme of mammals (apes and monkey's alike), all designs in the collection are names after various monkey species: Marmoset, Pigmy, Tamarin, Mandrill & Vervet.
